SATURDAY, JULY 24, 1897.

If the people of Paducah continue as busy as they are now it will be difficult to get up much interest in the coming political campaign. They are too busy now to talk politics.

The new tariff measure is not only the most acceptable tariff law put upon the books in many years, but becomes a law earlier than any tariff act since the first one enacted by an American Congress.

Tag gap between wheat and silver is getting wider. The silver in a dollar is worth 46 cents, while wheat is going up with a gain that makes dollar wheat seem a probability of the very near future.

The letter on this page from Washington should be carefully read. It gives a clear and interesting statement of the raw and refined sugar schedules and tells why sugar trust stock took such a boom.

Gold Democrats are the busiest people in the country just now. They are making a sharp fight in every state where there is a political contest and are bringing into their ranks many who voted last year for Bryan.

The President has acted with his usual good sense in not sending his financial message to Congress when he first intended to. It is safer to do one thing at a time and after the tariff bill is out of the way will come the opportunity to bring up the currency question.

No one can tell how much revenue the new tariff will yield, but the public would much rather trust Republican than Democratic estimates. Republican statesmen and tariff students have made the matter a study from a practical standpoint. They have been shrewd calculators in years past and there is no reason to think that they have lost any of their ability.

The tariff bill as finally agreed upon by the conferees restores House rates on wool, and within a very slight fraction of House rates on sugar. This destroys the last opportunity of the Democratic party to assert that the bill is favorable to the sugar trust, and at the same time gives to the wool producers of the country the protection which they had originally been given reason to suppose they would receive.

The political atmosphere of Paducah has been much cleared since the Republican city convention was held. It is the general comment of both Democrats and Republicans that no fairer and more orderly convention has ever been held in this city. And all those rumors of dissensions in the Republican ranks, which were obscuring the sky, have melted away like a summer morning fog before the rising sun. The Republican party in Paducah has never been in a better position than today, and from all sides compliments are heard as to the strength of the ticket. Should any vacancy occur on the ticket, it will be quickly filled and the declination means nothing. It is most likely to happen in any campaign that some nominee may change his mind and conclude not to make the race.

The alleged scoop that the "Register" refers to in this morning's issue in the matter of the declination of Mr. Harry Snow to make the race for the legislature on the Republican ticket occurred from no disposition on the part of any one to withhold information. The letter of Mr. Snow declining the nomination was addressed to Mr. Fisher as chairman of the Republican county committee, and not to him as manager of the daily Sun. As the committee has not yet met, the information could not be made public. The "Register" need borrow no trouble about that ticket. The county committee can find plenty of good men who will fill any vacancies that may occur. The election will not go by default this fall as far as the Republicans are concerned. In both county and city, the Republicans will present a ticket that will command the respect and confidence and get the votes of the people.

The putting of the new tariff bill into the hands of the President means the inauguration of a new era in the industrial history of this country. Notwithstanding all the vast importations of foreign goods that have been made within the past few months, the new law will exert a far-reaching and most beneficial influence. The government will have ample revenue for four years, and industry will have adequate protection and the people a long wished-for rest from tariff agitation. This relief cannot be over-estimated. Business men can now make their arrangements for four years. This new life in our industrial relations will be greatly aided by the greatly improved conditions of the farmers of the United States, who will soon have more ready cash than they have had for years. They alone will create an enormous demand for the output of our American mills and factories. No one need be surprised if this country enters upon a period of industrial activity within the next six months that will equal the most prosperous times of the good old days.

THAT SUGAR SCHEDULE.

An Interesting Letter About Some Points of the New Tariff.

Why the Sugar Trust Stock Took Such a Boom the Last Few Days.

The New Tariff is Not Nearly So Favorable to the Sugar Trust as the Wilson-Gorman Tariff.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., July 23, '97.—The new tariff bill having reached completion through agreement of the House and Senate conferees, it is well enough to consider briefly its important provisions, especially those relating to sugar, about which so many false and vicious statements have been made by the Democratic press.

The bill gives to the farmers the protection on wool and other farm products which they had asked, the House rates on first and second class wools being restored, and a highly satisfactory rate to the wool sections of the mountain states being adopted.

Now as to the sugar schedule. It was generally conceded when the bill passed the House that it was not in any way advantageous to the trust, but that on the contrary it took away from the trust the advantage which it had under the Wilson law. Stripped of all technicalities, the cold facts are that as the bill left the House the rates on refined sugar were 12½¢ per hundred pounds greater than the rates on raw sugar. Of course the rates on different grades of raw sugar are different, but taking the number of pounds of any grade which were required to make a hundred pounds of refined sugar it was found that the rates were on an average of 12½ cents per hundred pounds less than those on refined sugar. This means that the sugar refiners of the country, whether in the trust or out of it, were allowed a difference of 12½ cents per hundred pounds, or ½ of a cent a pound, difference between raw sugar when imported and refined sugar when imported, thus giving them an opportunity to import raw sugar at ½ of a cent a pound less than the rates at which refined sugar can be imported. It is generally conceded that the cost of refining sugar is not less than about ½ of a cent a pound, so that the rates really given to the sugar refiners are simply the bare difference between refined and unrefined sugars, or the cost of refining.

It is well known that the rates adopted by the Senate were more advantageous to the sugar refiners, but it is a fact that the rates agreed upon by the conferees made precisely the same difference between raw and refined sugars that the House bill made when it was passed by that body. The conferees report did increase the rates on refined sugars slightly, but it also increased the rates on raw sugar, thus making the difference in the rate of duty between raw and refined, or the "differential," as it is called, precisely what the House bill made it originally—12½ cents a hundred pounds, or one-eighth of a cent per pound.

But, says the objector, if the conferees report gave to the sugar trust no advantage, why was it that Sugar Trust stock advanced during the time that the bill was in consideration by the conferees, and after it was presented to the public?

The answer to this is simple enough. The sugar trust, knowing that the new bill would certainly advance the rate of duty on sugars as a protection to American producers, has been bringing into the country as rapidly as possible sugar in enormous quantities, getting it in, of course, under the comparatively low rates of the Wilson law. It has scooped the world for sugar, and is now in a creak by the time the conferees report was presented to the public over 700,000 tons of raw sugar, or say about 1,500,000,000 pounds. Think of it. Enough sugar to load seventy thousand cars, or to load three thousand five hundred freight trains of twenty cars each, or to make one continuous train over fifty miles in length. On every pound of this sugar which it had in stock it was perfectly apparent that it would make whatever profit there was between the tariff rates of the Wilson law and the increased tariff rates named by the Dingley law, or any aggregate profit calculated at about $12,000,000. Is it surprising that sugar stock went up in view of the fact that this organization would make upon the sugar which it had brought into the country $12,000,000 by the mere increase of the tariff rates of this bill have found it necessary to make in tariff rates in order to protect the sugar producers of the United States and bring a revenue to the government?

But, the objector will say, everybody familiar with this subject knows that the sugar trust had all this sugar in stock, and since this fact was well known this does not account for the sudden rise in sugar trust stock which followed the announcement of the agreement of the conference committee. This is true; but the explanation of the sudden advance, which was caused by the profit thus assured to the sugar trust through the enormous stock on hand, is found in the fact that Secretary Gage had recommended to Congress the placing of an internal revenue tax of one cent per pound on all unrefined sugar in the United States when the new tariff law should go into effect, the object being to compel the trust to pay to the government a tax of one cent per pound on all the $1,500,000,000 of sugar which it had accumulated waiting for the advance which it could make by the new tariff. Had Secretary Gage's recommendation been accepted by the conferees and by Congress, it would have compelled the trust to pay in internal revenue taxes probably 12 million dollars upon the sugar which it had piled up in its warehouses.

The conferees and Congress, however, did not adopt Secretary Gage's recommendation, for reasons which they looked upon as entirely sufficient, and the moment this fact became known, first, that the sugar trust would make this large profit by reason of the increased duty on sugar, and second, that it would not be compelled to pay out any of that profit in the proposed internal revenue tax upon its sugar in stock, those who calculated the profits which it would make during the coming year on this enormous mass of sugar which it holds saw readily that the profits would be great and the dividend large.

The result was the advance in sugar trust stock about which there was so much talk and denunciation. This advance was not due to any permanent advantage which the new tariff bill gives the trust over the old law, but, on the contrary, the difference between raw and refined sugars under the new bill is, as already indicated, 12½ cents per hundred, while under the Wilson law, it is 22½ cents per hundred pounds, thus making it apparent at once that the permanent "differential" or difference in tariff rates which the sugar refiners get under the new law is far less than that under the Wilson law, while this loss to the trust is offset by the mere temporary advantage in the advance in prices which it is able to make upon the enormous accumulation of sugar which it has on hand.

THE YANKEES ASTONISHED

That Kentucky's Bonds Should Bring More Than Those of Massachusetts.

The Best Bond Sale That Has Been Made in the South Since the War.

Commenting on the fact that the recent issue of $500,000 worth of bonds by the state of Kentucky brought such a good price the Cincinnati "Commercial-Tribune" says: "Four of the Eastern bondholders who went to Frankfort to bid on the $500,000 issue of the state standing bonds stood at the St. Nicholas on their way home, and expressed themselves as simply amazed at the bids which were made.

The highest bid was 107.47, which is on a basis of 3:12½.

The last issue of Massachusetts state bonds was bid in at a price which yields a net income of about 3.15.

"It is a most remarkable showing for a southern state," said Mr. R. B. Young, of E. H. Rollins & Sons, Boston, to a Commercial Tribune reporter last evening. "While I think the firm which made the successful bid, offered more than it was justified in doing, still the fact remains that the bid was made, and that Kentucky gets a better price for its state bonds than Massachusetts. No such sale has been made in the south since the war, and it is a fact which will draw the attention of financiers everywhere to the south. It surely is quite an epoch, a great victory for Kentucky, and I don't wonder that Gov. Bradley said that smiling and commenting as the bids were opened.

"There were about fourteen representatives of New York, Boston and Chicago brokers and banking houses present, which shows that confidence in the state was inspired by the way Kentucky voted at the last election; but the surprise was general over the high figure of the successful bidder.

"Mr. Young had with him the no-fund commissioners, asking for bids for the bonds, which are to be issued in denominations of $1000 each, dated July 1, 1897, running ten years and bearing 4 per cent. No gold clause appears in the notice, which is another significant feature. The bids run from 107.47 down to 102.95."

UNGRATEFUL WRETCH.

Steals From His Benefactor—And is Caught.

A. R. Coleman's Barber Shop.

Chas. Collins, of New Orleans, who claims to be a barber, was arrested on West Court street this morning on a charge of stealing two combs and a hone from A. R. Coleman, the one-legged barber who runs a shop near Broadway and the railroad crossing.

Collins went to Coleman last night and asked permission to sleep in his shop, claiming to be a barber in destitute circumstances. He was permitted to spend the night there, and about daylight and left, taking the hone and combs with him. The hone he sold to bartender Watson at Newport's Court street saloon, for 50 cents.

He was tried before Judge Sanders this morning and held to answer at the next term of circuit court.

The case against Judge Spence, charged with whipping his wife, was continued until Monday, on account of the defendant's condition.

Harry Hodges was docketed today for drawing a shot gun on Will Strickland, but the case was continued until Monday.

Husband and Wife Fight.

Charles and Sarah Smith, colored residents of "Canaan," and husband and wife, were fined $1 and costs each yesterday before Justice Barnett for fighting.

The Whitt Will Case.

The Whitt will case, which has been agitating the public mind, east of town, was decided Wednesday in the circuit court, says the Mayfield Mirror. The jury decided to let the will stand as it was written. There were about 100 witnesses in the case, and it went through the county court and was then appealed to the circuit court, which sustained the decision of the county judge.

Democratic Senatorial Primary.

The Democratic Senatorial committee met yesterday afternoon at the "Register" office to decide the time for selecting a Senatorial nominee for the district. The judicial committee recorded its action, naming the time for holding the judicial primary, postponing it until Sept. 4, which day was selected for holding the Senatorial primary also. The committee met on Sept. 11 to canvass the vote.

BAD BOYS

And Their Practice of Putting Out a City Light.

There is considerable complaint in regard to the practice of a gang of Mechanicsburg boys in turning out the electric light near Island Creek bridge.

They have an ingenious method of putting it out by means of a wire, and some of the citizens are becoming very indignant at their vandalism.

DIVINE HEALERS.

Rev. Brown and Son Begin a Month's Meeting.

Have Rented Windsor Theatre And Renamed it Windsor Chapel.

Rev. Brown and his son, Charles Brown, the divine healers, have rented the old Windsor theater for a month, and tonight begin a meeting. There will be religious services at 8 o'clock p. m. every night, and for divine healing at 3 o'clock every afternoon.

The name, "Windsor Theater," has been changed to "Windsor Chapel," and large crowds are expected.

Rev. Brown and his son have attracted considerable attention since they first came to Paducah, and some of their alleged cures are said to be wonderful.

INFORMAL RACES.

Maid of Ansel, a Paducah Horse Wins a Race.

Mobile Takes a Race (in 51 1-2 From Maid of Ansel.

There were a few informal races at the West End track yesterday afternoon.

In a half mile and repeat Maid of Ansel, belonging to Mr. D. I. Lewis, won over Mamie Nichols and Tom Elliott, in 62.

There was an exciting hippodrome race, followed by a match race between Mobile and Maid of Ansel, the former winning in 51½. This is considered good time, as Mobile is just from pasture.

Several other races are being arranged for the coming week.

Items of Special Interest to River People.

The wharf presented a lonesome appearance this morning; there were only a few arrivals; those in were doing a nice business. River traffic is expected to improve greatly now that the farmers are beginning to ship their wheat and the packets on both the upper and lower Ohio will be kept bustling to handle the grain and run on schedule time.

The Dick Fowler was out for Cairo this morning early carrying a very nice trip. She will return here tonight and leave on her return to Cairo in the morning with an excursion.

The Buckeye State was due from Cincinnati today en route to Memphis.

The City of Paducah left St. Louis yesterday for all Tennessee river points. She will arrive here tomorrow.

The State of Kansas was due up today from New Orleans en route to Cincinnati.

The H. W. Buttrick is due here out of the Cumberland river from Nashville tomorrow night. She will remain over here until Monday at noon, when she leaves on her return to Clarksville, Tenn.

The City of Sheffield was due to pass out of the Tennessee river this morning early, but had not put in her appearance at a very late hour, though is expected to be in and away before dark tonight.

The Clyde was lying at the head of the wharf this morning receiving her usual fine cargo of freight for this afternoon's departure, when she leaves for up the picturesque Tennessee river for Florence and all way points.

The John S. Hopkins was the Evansville packet this morning, though somewhat late in arriving, owing to heavy business in addition to very thin water.

The river continues to gradually ascend the banks here to the joy of the numerous idle river men and each one is living in hopes that he will be the lucky possessor of the next job that turns up. Now would not these old mariners be contented with their lot if it happened to be a lot of money.

The pilots report the channel between Cairo and St. Louis to be in a splendid condition since Uncle Sam's steamers have been working there for several weeks.

The wise woman will not waste her substance on a sun-plaited skirt if she would be up to date two months later, for report says a variety of skirt is rapidly going out of fashion.

Tiny sea shells are the latest decoration on some of the new gowns and embroideries with beads, silver and gold threads and narrow ribbons so much employed in the season's trimmings.

For evening dress young girls wear wreaths of flowers in their hair, which is arranged high on the head. Forget-me-nots are very pretty and a narrow wreath of green leaves is often very becoming.

A pretty chemise vest for foulard and large gowns is made of white mousseline de soie, striped across with little frills of narrow cream lace headed by one row of narrow black velvet ribbon.

Skirts flounced from the hem to the waist with ruffles shaped so that they require no gathers and edged with narrow cream lace are among the latest fancy and are especially effective in glaze silk.

A stylish cycling hat has a sailor brim of Panama straw and a Tam O'Shanter crown of accordion-plated canvas, and is trimmed with a band of velvet, a rosette of turquoise blue satin and two black quills.

Red, which is such a popular color this season, needs great care in making a selection, as it is either very becoming or very vulgar, as it harmonizes or is a discordant element in its effect on the woman who wears it.

A novel idea carried out at an English wedding is a procession of eight little bridesmaids following the bride, each one wearing a Victorian bonnet made of rose twigs lined with silk of the prevailing color in the dress and carrying crooks entwined with ribbon and flowers.

Flowers and foliage form the most conspicuous part of the trimming on this summer's hats, not as in former seasons, a mass of one kind alone, but in every conceivable combination, the purple violet almost always making one kind, no matter what else the other one or even two may be.

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

A CLEVER WRITER.—A great many people have expressed admiration for the clever poem that appeared in yesterday's Six over Mr. O. T. Fiske's signature. Mr. Fiske, as many perhaps recognized, is the popular young actor at Casino theatre, who was a journalist by profession before he went on the stage. He has worked on some of the largest papers in the country, and refused an offer from the New York "Herald" just before he adopted the stage. He now thinks there is no life of happiness except to vaudeville artists, and for this reason cannot be induced to return to his first love—the newspaper.

THE DEVIL BACKED OUT.—A good story is told illustrating the futility of establishing a new free silver newspaper in St. Louis. It was told by a man who recently buried $40,000 in a fruitless effort to keep up a penny free silver daily, and has never appeared in print. Towards the last, when money was gone and bankruptcy was staring him in the face, he went to New York to consult millionaire Hearst, and if possible obtain funds. The printers struck while he was away, however, and that settled the paper. In afterwards talking about his misfortune he laughingly told the following story:

A man once made a trade with the devil. He was to give his soul to his majesty of the nether paradise, and his majesty was to give him in return each day everything he wanted. All he had to do was to call for it, and a la Alladin and the lamp, it was there.

The first day he called for a brown stone mansion in a desirable location and promptly got it.

The next day he asked for carriages, horses, postillions, etc., and got them.

Thus it went on for several days, and he was immensely pleased with the bargain, until one day he asked the old fellow for money enough to run a free silver paper in St. Louis. The devil rebelled. He sent his friend a note, saying:

"Sorry to disappoint you, but it would break every bank in hell."

TO GO OUT OF BUSINESS.—The many friends of Mr. J. R. Puryear, of the Paducah Cycle Works, will regret to learn that his health and increased government duties have made it expedient for him to go out of business. He will shortly close out his stock of bicycles and give all his time and attention to his federal offices.

THE MORE THE MERRIER.—A lively war is on among the newspapers of Livingston county. The "Gold Standard," a sound money paper, was recently started at Smithland, and since then all the little and small cap fests in the county have been exhausted in editorial invective. As in other places, each paper is the choice of the people and has the largest circulation in the Purchase.

WALKING ENCYCLOPEDIA.—It is interesting what peculiar characters you often come across in unexpected places," remarked actor Compton, who is visiting here, the other day. "While I was in Terre Haute a few weeks ago I found a barber who knew every actor and actress, his or her history, and everything else in connection with the stage, to away back before the war. He had never been in the business, and I was puzzled to know how he acquired such an unlimited store of information in such matters, until one day he told me that he got it simply by reading one of the dramatic papers, which he had devoured regularly for years. He had never been in the business, as I said, and took no particular interest in stage matters, but seemed to pick it up without any effort."

ROSS WARE'S RECIPE.—Mr. Ross Ware, of E. B. Harbort & Co's, has an interesting curiosity that will always awaken memories of an exciting experience. While traveling through Colorado recently, a fragment from a pinnacle 3000 feet above the flying passenger train became detached, and rolled down the canyon with terrific force. It struck the coach directly over the young Paducah's head, and crashed through the roof, but remained imbedded there. Mr. Ware reached up, loosened it from its setting, and took undisputed possession of it. He is now showing it to his friends and telling how it happened.

THE IRONY OF FATE.—There are funny features, oftentimes, to even the most appalling casualties. Mr. Ellis Bour, assistant stage manager at the late Casino, lost his fine watch in the fire last night. The amusing part is that it had been stored away in the "sack" for a year and a half until yesterday, when he took a nothin he wanted it and went down and got it. He had it only a few hours until it was destroyed in the pocket of his vest, which he had left hanging in the dressing room.

Another funny thing, that perhaps wasn't so funny after all, especially to one of the principals, was during the panic, when Mr. Bour was assisting in getting the people out.

A poorly fellow wearing a Prince Albert came lumbering along and

SALE CONFIRMED.

Ohio Valley Goes to the Purchaser of the Chesapeake, Ohio and Southwestern.

In the federal circuit court Thursday Judge Barr confirmed the sale of the Ohio Valley road to Mr. Adrian H. Joline, of New York, and Judge Alex Humphrey, of this city, says the Courier-Journal. Immediately after, an assignment of the property was made by the purchasers to Mr. Edward H. Harriman.

This would seem to indicate that the road was purchased for the Illinois Central. Mr. Harriman was the purchaser of the Chesapeake, Ohio and Southwestern, which is being operated by the Illinois Central. While so far as known no arrangements have been made for the Ohio Valley, it is likely that the road will be absorbed by the Illinois Central, which will give that big system the basis of an independent road into Nashville.
